

Kay Rowe Nursery School and Children's Centre

Newsletter June 2017

Out and About.

Last half term we went on lots of visits. We went to the blue-bell woods, Mudchute farm, to watch 'Dogs don't do Ballet' at the theatre, and to look around the Forest gate Community Garden. All the children who are leaving in July have had the chance to go on Forest trek. This term we will be going to the beach all together on July 12th and visiting lots of the schools which the children will be moving onto in September.

Kay Rowe Annual Nursery Beach visit Wednesday 12th July.

The whole nursery is going to visit the beach at Chalkwell. Please put this date in your diary, it is a really special event. The whole nursery go to the beach and the children love going with their friends and teachers. We really need an adult to come with your child on this day so please try and see if you can make it. If you really can't come now is the time to see if a relative or a trusted friend could come with your child, (they have to be at least 16 years old). A letter with more details will be sent to you very soon.

'Save the Children Den Day' Friday 16th June

Once again we are taking part in national den day in support of 'Save the Children'. The money we raise goes to help 'Save the Children' provide shelters for displaced children across the world. We will be making dens all day at Kay Rowe. We would like to invite parents to come and help us make dens this Friday.

Warm weather

Please make sure the children are wearing clothes they can still climb and run safely in. Maxi dresses and long skirts are not suitable for nursery, neither are very strappy open toe sandals or flip flops.

If the weather is hot they will need sun hats and clothing which covers their shoulders. Please apply sun cream before they come to school if you feel they need it and send in sun cream labelled with your child's name if they are here all day. Children of all skin colours will need sun cream if the weather is hot.

We have a Challenge for you!

We have been working with a story telling program called 'Tales Toolkit'. Encourage your child to tell you a story, let them choose a character, a setting, a problem that comes up and a solution. Try and let them lead the storytelling. You could inspire them by telling a story yourself.

Safety on the road.

Every year around 187 children aged 0-4 years old are killed or seriously injured whilst on foot. Pedestrians accounted for 65% of child casualties in this age group. However it's still important for children to be outside. Walking is good for children's health and fitness and we support parents who encourage their children to walk as much as possible. Taking your child in the car for short journeys puts more traffic on the road and adds to the problem.

Children can be safe on the streets if we show them how. What's the best way to do this?

Set a good example. When you cross the road, don't take risks – your children will copy you, find a safe place to cross, then stop, look and listen,

Don't use your mobile phone while crossing the road.

Hold hands. Always hold hands with your young child near traffic (or make sure they hold onto a buggy if you're pushing one). Make sure your child walks on the side of the pavement away from the traffic.

Find the safest places to cross the road. Use traffic islands, zebra crossings, pedestrian crossings, footbridges and subways. Cross where you can see clearly in all directions. Avoid crossing between parked cars if there is a safer place nearby (and be considerate yourself when parking)

Show your child how to STOP, LOOK and LISTEN

Parents and carers play a vital part in teaching children how to cross the road safely. Even from a young age it's essential to set a good example and to help your child understand why we need to stop, look and listen before stepping onto a road

Refugee Week

Different pasts, shared future

Next week 19th June is refugee week, please let us know if you would like to help with activities.

New Building at Kay Rowe.

Thank you for being patient with us during this process. We know it has made walking to nursery along Osborne road very tricky. You can probably see that the building is completed and we are really looking forward to the hoarding coming down.
